

300,000 Men Swarm From War Plants To Farming

By JAMES MARLOW and
GEORGE ZIELKE
Washington, March 25 (AP)—
More than 300,000 men in the past
six months have moved from war
industries back to the farm where they are the greatest blanket draft-deferment.

This information was obtained today from authorities who said the
shift was far too great to be considered a seasonal migration and
that "300,000 is a conservative figure."

The surge farmward has occurred
while selective service—trying to
net critical military needs, particularly for men under 26—has
been forced to grab at key workers
in vital non-agricultural war industries.

1,689,000 Deferred
Latest figures show there are now
1,689,000 non-farmers under 26 who
are draft-deferred as farm workers.
This compares with the 348,000 non-
farmers under 26 draft-deferred because of essential occupations in
non-agricultural jobs.

The total number of deferred farm
workers is 1,689,000. The total deferred in other industries is 3,204-000.

Selective service yesterday issued
stringent orders to speed up drafting
of men under 26 in non-agricultural jobs. Farm workers, because of special legislation, have the most draft-
proof deferment of any group.

Every time selective service casts
eyes at farm workers, farm state
Congressmen chant a protest: Record-breaking food crops are needed
and manpower is needed to produce them.

Major General Lewis B. Hershey,
Selective Service director, recently
ordered farm draft boards to tighten up on deferments. The result is not yet known.

The draft goal between now and
July 1 is 1,160,000 men. It is figured this way:

The armed forces now number
10,600,000. The July 1 goal is 11-
300,000. That's a difference of 700-
000. But an additional 460,000 will be needed as replacements for men
killed, wounded or discharged for disability.

Thus the total goal of additional manpower is 1,160,000.

Of that total 920,000—or all but 240,000—will come out of Class 1,
which includes those reaching 18
years and those moved up from 3A,
such as fathers lacking essential job
deferments.

Where to Get Them
But where to get those other 240-
000?

Because of its physical requirements, Selective Service expects to get few men from the 4-F's. Nor
can it dip into the specially deferred classifications, such as ministers or state officials.

There are only two groups into
which it can dip:

Those deferred because of their
work in agriculture and non-agriculture jobs.

MINUTEMEN REORGANIZE TO OFFSET DRAFT

With 30 men already called into
the armed forces, the Adams county
Minutemen were reorganized at a meeting Friday evening at the armory with new non-commissioned officers named to fill the ranks of
those called into the service.

The company, under the command of Capt. C. Arthur Brame, at one time numbered 110 men, now has been reduced to 60 men and four officers. Besides the 30 called to the U. S. Army, Navy and Marines, ten of the members are now engaged in night war work and are unable to be active and 10 have resigned since the organization of the group over a year ago.

Despite the reduction in size, the company plans to carry out its spring maneuvers this spring with the members visiting all communities of the county in order to become familiar with the terrain. The maneuvers will start in May.

New Appointments
During April only two meetings will be held, Captain Brame announced today, with the company drilling on April 14 and 28. In May, it will start regular weekly meetings.

The non-commissioned officers include: Amidee Ecker, Littlestown, first sergeant; George Bushman and George Coshun, Gettysburg, platoon
sergeants; Chester Shriver, Jr., Gettysburg, R. D.; David Alwine, New Oxford; Daniel Miller, Gettysburg;
Harry McDannell, Biglerville R. D., and Henry Small, Cashtown, staff sergeants.

New sergeants named Friday include A. P. Markle, New Oxford; Louis Chamberlain, Gettysburg;
Amos Kuhn, Abbottstown; Curtis
Stoner, Cashtown, and Clarence Deardorff, McKnightstown.

Cpl. Crosby Hartzell was named company clerk to take the place of Cpl. Paul Fox who will be inducted into the U. S. Army in April.

Loose" was given Friday evening in the Gettysburg high school auditorium before a packed house in their second performance for the benefit

Complete figures were not available today but it was estimated that "more than $200" will be turned over to the Red Cross as play receipts.
All expenses of the production were met by donations from student organizations at the school so that all receipts could go to the War Relief Fund of the Red Cross.

DELAYED SCRAP CAMPAIGN TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Gettysburg's firemen today completed once again their plans for the March salvage drive and hoped that,
unlike last Tuesday, they will have
good weather this coming Tuesday
afternoon to pick up the ten tons
of salvaged materials they have set
as a quota for the current month's campaign. They will start at 1 p. m.

The firemen had been scheduled
to conduct the drive last Tuesday
but were stopped by the snow and
the drive was postponed for one
week with all arrangements carried
over intact.

Pointing out that most residents
of the town had their salvage collected and ready to be placed on the sidewalks last Tuesday the firemen
were confident that the week's delay
will increase rather than decrease
the amount of scrap for next Tuesday.

Cite Need For Paper

"Hundreds of pounds of additional
papers and other salvage materials
are available in the homes of Gettysburg residents each week," a spokesman for the fire company
said, "and since the collections for
the previous month were bundled
and ready to be collected last week,
it should be a simple matter to add
the salvage accumulated during the
last week to the already accumulated bundles."

"The need for waste paper becomes
increasingly grave, the firemen said,
with most paper reconversion mills
in the country working only part time because of lack of paper. The amount in one waste paper basket
contributed by everyone each day
would keep the mills running and
turning out paper and paperboard
to be used for civilian and military
use, it was asserted. "When it is understood that paper is used in connection with nearly every piece
of equipment in the war one can
understand the tremendous demand
for paper," it was stated. "Every
shell has to have its individual paper
wrapping, bombs are placed in
paper containers, foods and medicines are placed in paper boxes for shipment to our men on the fighting fronts," a spokesman said.

"Surely, realizing that need, one cannot refuse to give that which one
usually throws away."

Red Cross Seeking Lost Shoulder Bag

The Adams County Red Cross to-
day asked proprietors of gasoline
stations in the Gettysburg area to
check wash rooms for a ladies'
brown shoulder bag left behind by
an army lieutenant's wife while she
and her husband were passing through this section enroute home
on leave.

The county office was called from Great Neck, New York, Friday, by
the soldier's wife who asked the
county Red Cross assistance in recovering the bag which contains her
passport, ration book, the birth certificates of both the lieutenant and
his wife, their marriage license and
other valuable papers. There was no money in the bag. The couple was enroute from Fort Bliss to Great Neck to visit relatives while on leave.

MANY TO FILE DECLARATIONS OF YEAR'S TAX

Walter J. Rothensies, collector of Internal Revenue, Philadelphia, announced today that copies of the
forms for 1944 declarations of estimated tax have been mailed to
those taxpayers who filed 1943 declarations in this district last fall.

Collector Rothensies said any
other taxpayers who are required to
file declarations this year may obtain them from the Office of Collector of Internal Revenue, Philadelphia.

The 1944 declarations are due not later than April 15. Originally scheduled to be filed on March 15
along with 1943 tax returns, the 1944
declarations were postponed until April 15 in order to include provisions of the recently-enacted Revenue Act of 1943.

Keep Paid Up

The purpose of these declarations,
Collector Rothensies explained, is
to keep everyone substantially paid
up on his income taxes under the
pay-as-you-go plan. Most taxpayers are kept approximately paid up
by the tax that is withheld from
their wages, and therefore do not have to file declarations.

However, some wage earners—
particularly clergymen, domestic servants and farm laborers—do not
pay any withholding tax, and are required to file declarations. Other wage earners pay withholding tax
but not enough to meet their total
tax bill and must therefore file
declarations.

Also, declarations are required to provide a pay-as-you-go method of
collecting taxes from business and professional persons and large numbers of others who get all or part
of their income from sources where
no tax is withheld, such as business profits, dividends, interest,
rents, property or stock transactions,
or annuities.

Who Must File

A declaration is required on or before April 15 from all citizens or residents of the United States who
expect to have during 1944—either
alone or together with a wife or husband.

1. Wages subject to withholding exceeding $2,700 for a single person or $3,500 for a married couple
living together.

2. Or, more than $100 income
from all other sources if the total
of such income plus wages subject
to withholding is (a) $500 or more

Tough Germans Tighten Grasp On Old Cassino

By LYNN HEINZERLING

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 25 (AP)—Tough
German parachutists, ordered by their commander, Lt. Gen.
Richard Heindrich, to cling to Cassino at all costs and throw
the Allies out if possible, are holding New Zealand troops in tight confines in the southern part of the town.

The Germans have been able to get three more tanks into
the lobby of the Continental hotel and apparently are reinforcing their troops through secret tunnels, it was disclosed.

One of the tunnels used by the Germans was said to extend more than 1,000 yards from the abbey atop Monastery
Hill to the vicinity of Castle Hill which the Germans have been trying desperately to take from New Zealand troops
of the Fifth Army.

Bombers Pound Railways

German forces ringing the Allied Anzio beachhead meanwhile stabbed tentatively at the Allied lines with tanks. Two of the tanks were reported knocked out east of Carroceto, 21 miles below Rome. Five others were unofficially reported destroyed west of Cisterna by artillery fire.

Allied heavy bombers attacked the rail yards at Rimini
and Ancona yesterday while medium bombers struck at the port of Leghorn and rail facilities at Orvieto, Sulmona and Fano, Allied headquarters announced.

Eleven Allied planes failed to return from the day's operations as against the 20 German craft destroyed Friday.

The Germans maintained heavy shelling of the Anzio and Nettuno beachhead areas and there were also scattered patrol clashes.

Allied big guns supported tanks in the slugging match
with German armor in the vicinity of both the Continental hotel and the Hotel Des Roses in Cassino. Both sides maintained almost continual shellfire, harassing rear areas as well as the battlefield.

Bomb Yugoslav Harbors

Eighty-five German planes were active over the battle
areas during daylight hours yesterday while the Mediterranean Allied airforce flew more than 1,500 sorties.

Large numbers of enemy planes were fought off by Liberator heavy bombers that ranged as far north as Rimini and hit targets along the Italian east coast rail line. In at least 16 separate engagements with "unusually aggressive" German fighters, crew members said 10 enemy planes were shot down.

A small formation of Flying Fortresses bombed the Yugo-slav harbors of Sibenik and Split and Spitfires bombed and strafed shipping and shore targets along the Dalmatian coast
while Aircobras struck at similar targets along the Italian
west coast.

Red Cross Total Now Is $16,719.94

County Red Cross War Relief campaign reached $16,719.94
today.

$688.50 brought in from the New Oxford area and additional sums from Gettysburg and McSherry-town. Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Mc-Pherson, Jr., gave the Red Cross
$200 it was announced. William N. Leschey, McSherrytown, donated $100 as did Charles K.
Yeager of New Oxford, and the Alwine Brick company of New Oxford.

The New Oxford Lions club gave $75; the E. C. Livingston

Growers Addressed By Farm Specialists

One hundred and fifty growers

county attended the growers meeting sponsored jointly by the B. F.

town Friday.

John M. Haffington, State College

county agent, and Harrison F. Synder, county Agricultural Adjustment Agency head, were the speakers.

They outlined the labor problem for the coming year and answered problems of vegetable growing.

2,800 TONS OF BOMBS DROPPED ON BERLIN; 73 PLANES MISSING

By GLADWIN HILL

London, March 25 (AP) — The
major part of 1,000 RAF bombers
tought through one of the bitterest
night sky battles of the war last night and dumped 2,800 tons of
bombs on Berlin in the final drive
for the complete obliteration of the German capital.

Seventy-three British bombers
were shot down over Berlin and
other targets by large forces of German night fighters which the Berlin radio said started attacking the
mighty RAF armada as it crossed Heigoland, in the North sea, and fought it all the way to the capital.

Germany claimed 102 bombers
were shot down in the long running
fight which culminated in an hour-
long battle over the capital as formation after formation roared over,
starting new fires in that hub of Nazidom in the sixteenth major
RAF raid since November 18.

5 Attacks in Week

300,000 Men
Swarm From War Plants
To Farming

By JAMES MARLOW and
GEORGE ZIELKE
Washington, March 25 (AP)—
More than 300,000 men in the past
six months have moved from war
industries back to the farm where lay the greatest blanket draft-deferment.
This information was obtained to-
day from authorities who said the
shift was far too great to be considered a seasonal migration and
that "300,000 is a conservative figure."
The surge farmward has occurred
while selective service—trying to meet critical military needs, particularly for men under 26—has
been forced to grab at key workers
in vital non-agricultural war industries.
1,689,000 Deferred
Latest figures show there are now 563,000 non-farmers under 26 who
are draft-deferred as farm workers.
This compares with the 348,000 non-
farmers under 26 draft-deferred because of essential occupations in
non-agricultural jobs.
The total number of deferred farm
workers is 1,689,000. The total deferred in other industries is 3,204-000.
Selective service yesterday issued
stringent orders to speed up drafting
of men under 26 in non-agricultural
jobs. Farm workers, because of special legislation, have the most draft-
proof deferment of any group.
Every time selective service casts
eyes at farm workers, farm state
Congressmen chant a protest: Record-breaking food crops are needed
them.
Major General Lewis B. Hershey,
Selective Service director, recently
ordered farm draft boards to tight-
en up on deferments. The result
is not yet known.
The draft goal between now and
July 1 is 1,160,000 men. It is figured this way:
The armed forces now number
10,600,000. The July 1 goal is 11-
300,000. That's a difference of 700-
000. But an additional 460,000 will be needed as replacements for men
killed, wounded or discharged for
disability.
Thus the total goal of additional
manpower is 1,160,000.
Of that total 920,000—or all but 240,000—will come out of Class 1,
which includes those reaching 18
years and those moved up from 3A,
such as fathers lacking essential job
deferments.
Where to Get Them
But where to get those other 240-
000?
Because of its physical requirements, Selective Service expects to get few men from the 4-F's. Nor
can it dip into the specially defer-
red classifications, such as ministers or state officials.
There are only two groups into
which it can dip:
Those deferred because of their
work in agriculture and non-agriculture jobs.
MINUTEMEN
REORGANIZE TO OFFSET DRAFT
With 30 men already called into
the armed forces, the Adams county
Minutemen were reorganized at a
meeting Friday evening at the
armory with new non-commissioned officers named to fill the ranks of
those called into the service.
The company, under the command of Capt. C. Arthur Brame, at

DELAYED SCRAP
CAMPAIGN TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Gettysburg's firemen today completed once again their plans for the March salvage drive and hoped that,
unlike last Tuesday, they will have
good weather this coming Tuesday
afternoon to pick up the ten tons
of salvaged materials they have set
as a quota for the current month's
campaign. They will start at 1 p. m.
The firemen had been scheduled
to conduct the drive last Tuesday
but were stopped by the snow and
the drive was postponed for one
week with all arrangements carried
over intact.
Pointing out that most residents
of the town had their salvage collected and ready to be placed on the
sidewalks last Tuesday the firemen
were confident that the week's delay
will increase rather than decrease
the amount of scrap for next Tuesday.

Cite Need For Paper

"Hundreds of pounds of additional
papers and other salvage materials
are available in the homes of Gettysburg residents each week," a
spokesman for the fire company
said, "and since the collections for
the previous month were bundled
and ready to be collected last week,
it should be a simple matter to add
the salvage accumulated during the
last week to the already accumulated bundles."

The need for waste paper becomes
increasingly grave, the firemen said,
with most paper reversion mills in the country working only part time because of lack of paper. The amount in one waste paper basket
contributed by everyone each day
would keep the mills running and
turning out paper and paperboard
to be used for civilian and military
use, it was asserted. "When it is understood that paper is used in connection with nearly every piece
of equipment in the war one can
understand the tremendous demand
for paper," it was stated. "Every-
wrapping, bombs are placed in
paper containers, foods and medicines are placed in paper boxes for
shipment to our men on the fighting fronts," a spokesman said.
"Surely, realizing that need, one
cannot refuse to give that which one
usually throws away."

Red Cross Seeking Lost Shoulder Bag

The Adams County Red Cross to-
day asked proprietors of gasoline
stations in the Gettysburg area to
brown shoulder bag left behind by
an army lieutenant's wife while she
and her husband were passing
through this section enroute home
on leave.

Great Neck, New York, Friday, by
the soldier's wife who asked the
county Red Cross' assistance in re-
covering the bag which contains her
passport, ration book, the birth cer-
his wife, their marriage license and
money in the bag. The couple was enroute from Fort Bliss to Great Neck to visit relatives while on leave.

MANY TO FILE
DECLARATIONS
OF YEAR'S TAX

Walter J. Rothensies, collector of Internal Revenue, Philadelphia, announced today that copies of the
forms for 1944 declarations of estimated tax have been mailed to
those taxpayers who filed 1943 declarations in this district last fall.

Collector Rothensies said any
other taxpayers who are required to
file declarations this year may obtain them from the Office of Collector of Internal Revenue, Philadelphia.

The 1944 declarations are due not
later than April 15. Originally scheduled to be filed on, March 15
along with 1943 tax returns, the 1944
declarations were postponed until
April 15 in order to include provisions of the recently-enacted Revenue Act of 1943.

Keep Paid Up

The purpose of these declarations,
Collector Rothensies explained, is
to keep everyone substantially paid
up on his income taxes under the
pay-as-you-go plan. Most taxpayers are kept approximately paid up
by the tax that is withheld from
their wages, and therefore do not
have to file declarations.

However, some wage earners—
particularly clergymen, domestic
servants and farm laborers—do not
pay any withholding tax, and are required to file declarations. Other
wage earners pay withholding tax
but not enough to meet their total
tax bill and must therefore file
declarations.

Also, declarations are required to provide a pay-as-you-go method of
collecting taxes from business and
professional persons and large numbers of others who get all or part
of their income from sources where
no tax is withheld, such as business profits, dividends, interest,
rents, property or stock transactions,
or annuities.

Who Must File

A declaration is required on or before April 15 from all citizens or
residents of the United States who
expect to have during 1944—either
alone or together with a wife or
husband.

1. Wages subject to withholding exceeding $2,700 for a single person or $3,500 for a married couple
living together.

2. Or, more than $100 income
from all other sources if the total
of such income plus wages subject
to withholding is (a) $500 or more

Tough Germans
Tighten Grasp
On Old Cassino

By LYNN HEINZERLING

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 25 (AP)—Tough
German paratroopers, ordered by their commander, Lt. Gen.
Richard Heindrich, to cling to Cassino at all costs and throw
the Allies out if possible, are holding New Zealand troops in tight confines in the southern part of the town.

The Germans have been able to get three more tanks into
the lobby of the Continental hotel and apparently are reinforcing their troops through secret tunnels, it was disclosed.

One of the tunnels used by the Germans was said to extend more than 1,000 yards from the abbey atop Monastery
Hill to the vicinity of Castle Hill which the Germans have been trying desperately to take from New Zealand troops
of the Fifth Army.

Bombers Pound Railways

while stabbed tentatively at the Allied lines with tanks. Two of the tanks were reported knocked out east of Carroceto, 21 miles below Rome. Five others were unofficially reported destroyed west of Cisterna by artillery fire.

Allied heavy bombers attacked the rail yards at Rimini
and Ancona yesterday while medium bombers struck at the port of Leghorn and rail facilities at Orvieto, Sulmona and Fano, Allied headquarters announced.

Eleven Allied planes failed to return from the day's operations as against the 20 German craft destroyed Friday.

The Germans maintained heavy shelling of the Anzio and Nettuno beachhead areas and there were also scattered patrol
clashes.

Allied big guns supported tanks in the slugging match
with German armor in the vicinity of both the Continental hotel and the Hotel Des Roses in Cassino. Both sides maintained almost continual shellfire, harassing rear areas as well
as the battlefield.

Bomb Yugoslav Harbors

Eighty-five German planes were active over the battle
areas during daylight hours yesterday while the Mediterranean Allied airforce flew more than 1,500 sorties.

Large numbers of enemy planes were fought off by Liber-ator heavy bombers that ranged as far north as Rimini and hit targets along the Italian east coast rail line. In at least 16 separate engagements with "unusually aggressive" German fighters, crew members said 10 enemy planes were shot
down.

A small formation of Flying Fortresses bombed the Yugo-slav harbors of Sibenik and Split and Spitfires bombed and
strafed shipping and shore targets along the Dalmatian coast
while Aircobras struck at similar targets along the Italian
west coast.

2,800 TONS OF
BOMBS DROPPED
ON BERLIN; 73
PLANES MISSING

London, March 25 (AP) — The
major part of 1,000 RAF bombers fought through one of the bitterest
night sky battles of the war last
night and dumped 2,800 tons of
bombs on Berlin in the final drive
for the complete obliteration of the German capital.

Seventy-three British bombers
were shot down over Berlin and
other targets by large forces of German night fighters which the Berlin radio said started attacking the
mighty RAF armada as it crossed Heligoland, in the North sea, and
fought it all the way to the capital.

Germany claimed 102 bombers
were shot down in the long running
fight which culminated in an hour-
long battle over the capital as formation after formation roared over,
starting new fires in that hub of Nazism in the sixteenth major
RAF raid since November 18.

5 Attacks in Week

In the five-week interval in the RAF blows, American heavy bombers had hit the capital five times in daylight.

The British Air Ministry's report said that Kiel also had been hit by the night raiders "along with other objectives in western Germany." A German broadcast said Leipzig and Weimar also had been hit, but the Air Ministry did not name these as targets.

Last night's bomb load equalled
the record load loosed over Berlin
the RAF raid of February 15 but fell short of the all-time mark of

JAP INVASION OF INDIA CALLED 'VERY LONG SHOT'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Japan's General Tojo is straining hard to make capital out of the Nipponese "invasion" across the northeast border of India from Burma, and it's of more than passing interest to find him trying to build a political sensation out of it with the claim that the so-called Indian National army, with headquarters in Burma, is participating with the idea of liberating India.

There is thus far no major threat, either military or political, against India. Allied headquarters minimize the importance of the attack. However, I'm sure they don't mean for us to dismiss lightly any enemy invasion. We cannot forget that this great sub-continent is the chief Allied base for the final smash against Japan. It's complete security is vital.

Hit At Highway Center

Chungking is shocked by the development. Unofficially the feeling is expressed in the Chinese capital that the invasion is supplying the Japanese propaganda guns with the best ammunition they've had in months.

The attack has come in the Chindwin river area of western Burma, where the enemy has driven two or more columns across the border into the primitive Indian state of Manipur. The invaders apparently are headed for Imphal, capital of Manipur and terminus of a good highway which connects in the north with the main Allied supply line—highway, railway, water, air—from India to China.

Political Angle, Too

General Auchinleck, British commander in chief for India, sums the position up tersely with the declaration that "no real threat can materialize unless and until the Japanese manage to penetrate points where they can attack our main rail and river communications or our airfields in Assam." He says the Manipur drive is to divert Allied forces and relieve the pressure on the Japanese to the south where the Allies are driving for the big Nipponese airbase at Akyab.

That's the military angle. It strikes me, however, that there's as much or even more political purpose in this Japanese operation. There is a small doubt that Tojo long ago abandoned hope of invading India in a big way, but he never has given up hope of causing revolt against the British.

Both Tokyo and Berlin have been pouring anti-British propaganda into India over the air ever since the war started in an effort to start a revolution. The Japanese have posed as the liberators of the Indians, and have made grandiose promises of absolute independence.

Playing A Long Shot

One of the Axis's best bets has been Subhas Chandra Bose, the Indian leader who has been trying to stir his people up from the security of Japanese controlled territory.

Tojo now tells us that the "Indian National army," which supposedly has been created from anti-British elements in Burma, is under command of Bose. This army, declares Tojo, "has begun its march to its native land," but he doesn't indicate whether Bose is with it. The Japanese premier says the plan is to liberate India and put it in the hands of the "free India provisional government."

1,194 Amputations In World War II

Washington, March 25 (AP)—The Army divulged through Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) today that 1,194 American soldiers have had arms or legs amputated thus far in the war.

The information was given to the house by Mrs. Rogers to squelch "ugly rumors" about fantastic numbers of amputations, and "basket cases"—those with both legs and arms off—which she said were becoming current.

Brig. Gen. Fred W. Rankin, chief consultant in surgery, said in a letter to the congresswoman that only 68 lost two limbs. There was "not a single triple amputation nor was there a single quadruple, or so-called basket type" of case," the general said.

FOURTEEN MEN ARE KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Shinnston, W. Va., March 25 (AP)—A terrific explosion shattered part of the newly-opened Katherine No. 4 coal mine early today, trapping many miners. Killing 14 men who had entered the working to fight a fire.

Officials said a 15th man, who was not publicly identified, was unaccounted for but he was not mentioned on a Katherine coal company list of men known to have been in the mine.

"There is every reason to believe the trapped men are dead," company and state mine department spokesmen said.

Rescue work was at a standstill while workmen restored the damaged ventilating system.

The fire broke out last night near the end of the 3,000-foot slope, and the entire working crew of 75 was ordered to the surface. A fire fighting company was organized and sent back inside.

Sets Cars Afire

When the explosion let go, flames leaped from the drift mouth in such volume that two automobiles parked nearby were set afire.

State mines chief Jesse Redyard, before leaving Charleston for the scene, said he was informed the fire started from a machine cable and quickly ignited the wall of coal.

Redyard estimated it might be several hours before anyone could enter. There was no way of determining whether the fire was still burning.

Sun Shipbuilding Strike Is Settled

Chester, Pa., March 25 (AP)—A union official predicted that full production would be resumed today at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company yards where several hundred workers stayed away from their jobs Thursday.

The walkout was confined to the No. 4 yard, which is manned entirely by negroes, and followed a strike by groups of welders and burners in other yards the night before.

Charles George, national representative of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (CIO), said the men were ordered back to work following a union-management conference at which several demands were presented to the company.

One demand, he said, was for the removal of John G. Pew, Jr., son of the company's president, as Labor Relations representative.

SPEED DRAFT OF YOUNG MEN INTO ARMED FORCES

By MAX HALL

Washington, March 25 (AP)—The mass movement of men under 26 from jobs to battle lines was speeded today as Selective Service began calling them up for immediate physical examinations and postponed its consideration of older men in order to meet the Army's demand for vigorous young fighters.

While the drastic new draft regulations were being put into operation, a dozen government agencies hurriedly gathered data on the manpower needs of vital industries so that new centralized machinery for recommending deferments of men under 26 can start rolling as soon as possible.

Those two developments—swift drafting of younger men for combat and a single inter-agency committee to help choose the relatively few who will not be taken—put some order in the overall situation after a week of confusion.

Emphasis On Young Men

To youths 18 through 25 holding non-agricultural job deferments—there were 365,000 at the last count—the new draft regulations mean:

1. They will be called for pre-induction physicals right away. This may be done without taking them out of 2-A or 2-B. The purpose, draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said, is "to accelerate the processing for induction of those who will become available for military service, and to provide the director and employers with information regarding those who are not acceptable for military service."

2. Their classifications will be reconsidered faster than before because Hershey ordered a halt to reconsideration of men 26 and over, until each local board has gone through its list of younger men. This policy applies to all men with occupational deferments, including farm, and also to those still in 3-A by reason of dependency.

May Delay Some In 3A

3. The expiration dates of their deferments no longer have any meaning. If a local board gets around to Joe Doakes, in 2-A, and decides he ought to be in 1-A, he goes in 1-A at once, even if his deferment was supposed to run a couple of months longer.

4. If they're found unfit for military service or fit for limited service only, their draft board can give them occupational deferments instead of putting them in 4-F or 1-L. This was expected to put more men in essential jobs and improve the manpower situation. 4-F's are not subject to some manpower regulations on job transfers.

To men in the 26-37 age group who are in 3-A or hold job deferments, the new regulations mean a delay in reconsideration of their cases. The length of the delay depends on the situation in each local draft board.

Men Already In 1A To Go

The armed forces are primarily interested in young men just now, but this doesn't mean all calls can be filled from men under 26. For example, the new rules do not halt induction of men over 25 who are already in 1-A.

Hershey also notified his state directors of an interim plan for recommending deferments for indispensable young men, to be used until the new inter-agency committee gets the permanent machinery moving. Under the interim plan, government "claimant" agencies, such as Office of Defense Transportation for transportation, War Production Board for factories, and so on, will endorse requests for deferments and send them to the state directors.

Rumanians Reported On Mystery Mission

London, March 25 (AP)—The expected arrival of a Rumanian delegation in Turkey on a mystery mission was reported today in an Istanbul dispatch as other advices indicated Hitler was meeting widespread opposition in his military occupation of Balkan states.

Writing from Istanbul, Associated Press Correspondent William B. King said the Rumanians, headed by Paul Sterian, secretary general of the Rumanian foreign office, was due there today from Bucharest.

"The announced purpose of the visit is to reach a commercial agreement with Turkey," King said, "but in view of the turbulent Balkan situation unusual importance is attached to the mission. It is unlikely that routine commercial problems would be handled by top Rumanian diplomats."

Kansas City (AP)—The dietary problem of Huey, Swope Park zoo's persnickety sea lion, finally has been solved, but it required a scientific approach.

JAP INVASION OF INDIA CALLED 'VERY LONG SHOT'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Associated Press War Analyst)

Japan's General Tojo is straining hard to make capital out of the Nipponese "invasion" across the northeast border of India from Burma, and it's of more than passing interest to find him trying to build a political sensation out of it with the claim that the so-called Indian National army, with headquarters in Burma, is participating with the idea of liberating India.

There is thus far no major threat, either military or political, against India. Allied headquarters minimize the importance of the attack. However, I'm sure they don't mean to us to dismiss lightly any enemy invasion. We cannot forget that this great sub-continent is the chief Allied base for the final smash against Japan. It's complete security is vital.

Hit At Highway Center

Chungking is shocked by the development. Unofficially the feeling is expressed in the Chinese capital that the invasion is supplying the Japanese propaganda guns with the best ammunition they've had in months.

The attack has come in the Chindwin river area of western Burma, where the enemy has driven two or more columns across the border into the primitive Indian state of Manipur. The invaders apparently are headed for Imphal, capital of Manipur and terminus of a good highway which connects in the north with the main Allied supply line—highway, railway, water, air—from India to China.

Political Angle, Too

General Auchinleck, British commander in chief for India, sums the position up tersely with the declaration that "no real threat can materialize unless and until the Japanese manage to penetrate points where they can attack our main rail and river communications or our airfields in Assam." He says the Manipur drive is to divert Allied forces and relieve the pressure on the Japanese to the south where the Allies are driving for the big Nipponese airbase at Akyab.

That's the military angle. It strikes me, however, that there's as much or even more political purpose in this Japanese operation. There's a small doubt that Tojo long ago abandoned hope of invading India in a big way, but he never has given up hope of causing revolt against the British.

Both Tokyo and Berlin have been pouring anti-British propaganda into India over the air ever since the war started in an effort to start a revolution. The Japanese have posed as the liberators of the Indians, and have made grandiose promises of absolute independence.

Playing A Long Shot

One of the Axis's best bets has been Subhas Chandra Bose, the Indian leader who has been trying to stir his people up from the security of Japanese controlled territory.

Tojo now tells us that the "Indian National army," which supposedly has been created from anti-British elements in Burma, is under command of Bose. This army, declares Tojo, "has begun its march to its native land," but he doesn't indicate whether Bose is with it. The Japanese premier says the plan is to liberate India and put it in the hands of the "free India provisional government."

If Tojo's story isn't just a pipe dream, he undoubtedly is hoping to get revolutionary support in Manipur state, Assam and especially in neighboring Bengal where most of the violent anti-British sentiment exists. However, he's playing a terrifically long shot without confidence of success, since he is up against well organized American, British and Indian forces in India.

1,194 Amputations In World War II

Washington, March 25 (AP)—The Army divulged through Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) today that 1,194 American soldiers have had arms or legs amputated thus far in the war.

The information was given to the house by Mrs. Rogers to squelch "ugly rumors" about fantastic numbers of amputations and "basket" cases—those with both legs and arms off—which she said were becoming current.

Brig. Gen. Fred W. Rankin, chief consultant in surgery, said in a letter to the congresswoman that only 68 lost two limbs. There was "not a single triple amputation nor was there a single quadruple, or so-called 'basket type' of case," the general said.

FOURTEEN MEN ARE KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Shinnston, W. Va., March 25 (AP)—A terrific explosion shattered part of the newly-opened Katherine No. 4 coal mine early today, trapping many miners, killing 14 men who had entered the working to fight a fire.

Officials said a 15th man, who was not publicly identified, was unaccounted for but he was not mentioned on a Katherine coal company list of men known to have been in the mine.

"There is every reason to believe the trapped men are dead," company and state mine department spokesmen said.

Rescue work was at a standstill while workmen restored the damaged ventilating system.

The fire broke out last night near the end of the 3,000-foot slope, and the entire working crew of 75 was ordered to the surface. A fire fighting company was organized and sent back inside.

Sets Cars Afire

When the explosion let go, flames leaped from the drift mouth in such volume that two automobiles parked nearby were set afire.

State mines chief Jesse Redyard, before leaving Charleston for the scene, said he was informed the fire started from a machine cable and quickly ignited the wall of coal.

Redyard estimated it might be several hours before anyone could enter. There was no way of determining whether the fire was still burning.

SPEED DRAFT OF YOUNG MEN INTO ARMED FORCES

By MAX HALL

Washington, March 25 (AP)—The mass movement of men under 26 from jobs to battle lines was speeded today as Selective Service began calling them up for immediate physical examinations and postponed its consideration of older men in order to meet the Army's demand for vigorous young fighters.

While the drastic new draft regulations were being put into operation, a dozen government agencies hurriedly gathered data on the manpower needs of vital industries so that new centralized machinery for recommending deferments of men under 26 can start rolling as soon as possible.

Those two developments—swift drafting of younger men for combat and a single inter-agency committee to help choose the relatively few who will not be taken—put some order in the overall situation after a week of confusion.

Emphasis On Young Men

To youths 18 through 25 holding non-agricultural job deferments—there were 395,000 at the last count—the new draft regulations mean:

1. They will be called for pre-induction physicals right away. This may be done without taking them out of 2-A or 2-B. The purpose, draft Director Lewis B. Hershey said, is "to accelerate the processing for induction of those who will become available for military service, and to provide the director and employers with information regarding those who are not acceptable for military service."

2. Their classifications will be reconsidered faster than before because Hershey ordered a halt to re-consideration of men 26 and over, until each local board has gone through its list of younger men. This policy applies to all men with occupational deferments, including farm, and also to those still in 3-A by reason of dependency.

May Delay Some In 3A

The expiration dates of their deferments no longer have any meaning. If a local board gets around to Joe Doakes, in 2-A, and decides he ought to be in 1-A, he goes in 1-A at once, even if his deferment was supposed to run a couple of months longer.

4. If they are found unfit for military service or fit for limited service only, their draft board can give them occupational deferments instead of putting them in 4-F or 1-L. This was expected to put more men in essential jobs and improve the manpower situation. 4-F's are not subject to some manpower regulations on job transfers.

To men in the 26-37 age group who are in 3-A or hold job deferments, the new regulations mean a delay in reconsideration of their cases. The length of the delay depends on the situation in each local draft board.

Men Already In 1A To Go

The armed forces are primarily interested in young men just now, but this doesn't mean all calls can be filled from men under 26. For example, the new rules do not halt induction of men over 25 who are already in 1-A.

Hershey also notified his state directors of an interim plan for recommending deferments for indispensable young men, to be used until the new inter-agency committee gets the permanent machinery moving. Under the interim plan, government "claimant" agencies, such as Office of Defense Transportation for transportation, War Production Board for factories, and so on, will induce requests for deferments and send them to the state directors.

The state directors are not compelled to accept them.

Rumanians Reported On Mystery Mission

London, March 25 (AP)—The expected arrival of a Rumanian delegation in Turkey on a mystery mission was reported today in an Istanbul dispatch as other advices indicated Hitler was meeting widespread opposition in his military occupation of Balkan states.

Writing from Istanbul, Associated Press Correspondent William B. King said the Rumanians, headed by Paul Sterian, secretary general of the Rumanian foreign office, was due there today from Bucharest.

"The announced purpose of the visit is to reach a commercial agreement with Turkey," King said, "but in view of the turbulent Balkan situation unusual importance is attached to the mission. It is unlikely that routine commercial problems would be handled by top Rumanian diplomats."

It was Ossie.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 25 (AP)—Overseas sports news report:

ENGLAND

Sgt. Peter Kane, former world flyweight champion, has been forbidden to box while in the RAF and will have to cancel his June bout with Ronnie Clayton for the British bantamweight crown. . . . The ban was imposed after a service medical report on the condition of Kane's eyes. . . . Major Frank Buckley, who is reputed to have discovered and sold more major British soccer stars than any other man (a Cockney Connie Mack, eh?) foresees crowds of 100,000 to 150,000 for post-war soccer games and each club operating its own airliner to international matches.

PACIFIC AREA

Ens. Dick Humbert, the Philadelphia Eagles' end, writes Coach Greasy Neale that he is on a sub change, which is "something like a ping-pong ball bouncing down a cobblestone street." . . . Lieut. Roland (Kickapoo), Logan, former Red Sox and West Point trainer, reports that Gene Tunney, Jim Crowley, Bobby Feller, Fred Apostoli, and footballers Marshall Duffield (Southern Cal.) and Jim Poole (Miss. State and Giants) have visited his fleet recreation center at various times. . . . Marine ring fans in the Solomon Islands think Pfc. Dale (Tiny) Fawns, 20-year-old Kentuckian, is something extra-special as a heavyweight boxing prospect. He's six feet five, weighs 245 and "moves with unbelievable speed and hits like a triphammer."

PERSIAN GULF COMMAND

Sgt. Allen La Combe of New Orleans also reports a fine heavyweight prospect, 20-year-old Harold Augusta of St. Louis. Augusta, PGC, middle-east and Anglo-American 165-pound champ who now scales 192 and is still growing. He's clever and a hard hitter. . . . La Combe has 42 boxers training daily, about 20 doing part-time work, not counting 40 to 50 Persian kids "who are always crying to box." . . . "I do not know how we are going to train when this heat of about 150 to 160 hits us soon," Allen adds. "but we will find a way." . . . A "Yank" report on the Anglo-American bouts at Cairo in February, before 12,000 fans, says there were as many fights outside the ring as in it. . . . Incidentally, one of the referees there was Capt. Joseph Kiddie. . . . Wonder if he de divey?

ICELAND

GI boxing, with British service men frequently taking part, has shared interest with basketball in Andrews field house during the far northern winter nights. . . . Both the championship cage team, coached by Lieut. Jerome B. Robinson, and the leading boxers were rewarded with trips to Britain. . . . And Lieut. Dave Zinkoff, the old Philadelphia sports announcer, says that the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. William S. Key, "holds his ringside seat come hell or high water or aurora borealis."

OVER EUROPE

The sporting news carries this yarn about Lieut. Alfred Pezzella, a bombardier and obviously a baseball fan. . . . While his B-24 was flying over enemy territory, a piece of flak whizzed through the nose of the plane missing Pezzella by a few inches. . . . The lieutenant looked up momentarily from his bombight and remarked: "ball one, low and inside."

BYRON NELSON TRAILS

Durham, N. C., March 25 (AP)—Byron Nelson trailed the leaders by a stroke today as the $5,000 Durham open tournament moved into the second round but he had to his credit a remarkable six holes of golf. Picked to win before play began, the Toledo stylist needed a 68 yesterday, three under par, and found himself in third place back of the two New York veterans, Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam and 1941 National open champion Craig Wood of Mamaroneck.

TITLE GAME TONIGHT

Denver, March 25 (AP)—The old scientists of independent amateur basketball, defending champion Phillips "66" and Denver Ambrose Legion, match their skill and years of experience tonight for the national AAU title. A Denver entry and the Phillips representative have played five times for the crown.

The English call a thumb-tack a drawing pin.

By LOU BLACK
New Haven, Conn., March 25 (AP)—Barring a near miracle, Alan Ford, Yale's great swimmer, loomed today as the National Collegiate A. A.'s first triple titlist in nearly a decade. All that the Eli's Balboa bullet has to do is to win the 100-yard free style sprint, and hardly anybody expects him to flunk.

The last time anybody won three crowns in the NCAA championships was in 1936 when Jack Medica of the University of Washington and now University of Pennsylvania coach, did it. And prior to that, the only other swimmer to accomplish the trick was Art Schwartz of Northwestern in 1930.

Beats Own Record

The century is the 20-year-old, broad-shouldered Ford's specialty and only a week ago, he lowered his world's record for the distance to 0:49.7. The big question was not whether the rusty-haired Ford, whom Coach Bob Kipphut, an expert, claims is the speediest sprint swimmer in history, would win, but how much he has been affected by a recent cold.

Ford, after winning the 50-yard freestyle and 150-yard backstroke with ease last night—the inaugural of the two-day championships in Yale's pool—said he felt fine. His winning of the two events, staged hardly ten minutes apart, featured the first day's activities.

Other highlights included the winning of the 1500-meter by Keo Nakama, Ohio State's captain from Hawaii, the first champ to successfully defend his title; the triumph of big Gene Rogers of Columbia in the 220-yard freestyle in which he beat Nakama by less than a foot; the annexing of the one-meter dive crown by Charles Batterman of Columbia, formerly of Ohio State, and the winning of the 300-yard medley relay by the U. S. Naval Academy.

Navy Threat

Although Yale and Michigan were favored to battle it out to the last race in today's five event show—400-yard and 440-yard free style; 200-yard breaststroke; 400-yard relay and three-meter dive—for the team title, the midshipmen from Annapolis offer a serious threat.

Yale leads with 24 points, four more than Michigan, and Navy trails with 18. Other team scores: Ohio State, 14; Columbia, 12; Williams, Penn State, U. S. Military Academy, and Cornell, 4 each; Rochester, 3.

DODDS FAILS TO BETTER RICE'S 2-MILE RECORD

By LARRY SMITH
Cleveland, March 25 (AP)—Gil Dodds still prefers his courtship with the two-mile run even though he failed by a wide margin in his assault on Greg Rice's indoor record at the Knights of Columbus games last night.

"I still feel it's my natural distance," the Boston Divinity student remarked wearily after he finished 14.3 seconds beyond the 8:51 mark which the former Notre Dame star set in the same meet last year.

"I had very little time to train for the extra distance and I just got tired, that's all," he explained.

Beat Mile Mark

Gil twice lowered the world's indoor mile record the past two week-ends but it was his first effort in two years over the longer route.

Jimmy Wisner of Baltimore finished third while Bill Jamison, another Baltimore entrant, dropped out at the halfway point.

The performance was Dodds' farewell appearance of the winter season. He will occupy his father's pulpit at Smithville, Ohio, this Sunday.

Smash 45-Yard Mark

Ed Conwell, national indoor dash champion from New York university, and Claude (Buddy) Young, University of Illinois freshman, each fractured the record for the seldom-run 45-yard dash. Young clipped one-tenth of a second off the mark of 4.8 seconds in a semi-final heat but finished second as Conwell repeated the feat in the finals. Herb Thompson of Jersey City, now in the Coast Guard, set the old figure here last year.

With Dodds out of the mile, Bill Hulse of the New York A. C., triumphed easily in that event, finishing 30 yards ahead of Rudy Sims of New York university. His time was 4:14.3, compared with the 4:06.4 figure Dodds turned in at the Chicago relays last week.

ZURITA VS. JACK

New York, March 25 (AP)—Juan Zurita, New NBA lightweight champion, arrived late last night from Mexico City. He planned to start work today for his 10-round non title scrap with Beau Jack at Madison Square Garden on Friday. The Beau currently is a 2 to 1 favorite.

HERSHEY EVENS HOCKEY SERIES

(By The Associated Press)
Tied at one game apiece in their semi-final best four-of-seven games series the Cleveland Barons and the Hershey Bears resume play tonight in the American Hockey league playoffs.

Shutout, 2 to 0, in the opening game at Cleveland on Tuesday, the Bears bounced back on their home ice Thursday, 3 to 1. Since tonight's game again is at Hershey, the Bears are favored to take a 2-1 edge in the series before the teams hop back to Cleveland for a Sunday night encounter.

Meantime the Indianapolis Caps got back into the running of their semi-final tussle with Buffalo by whipping the Bisons, 4 to 3, before 3,259 at Indianapolis last night. Buffalo holds a 2 to 1 lead with the fourth game carded at the Indiana city tomorrow night.

Johnny Sorrell, Indianapolis coach, personally won the game for his caps by zipping home four goals within six minutes and nine seconds in the third period. His feat wiped out a 2-0 Buffalo lead and inspired his teammates to thwart Buffalo's determined thrusts in the closing minutes.

PIRATES ARE PLEASED WITH YOUNG ROOKIE

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Muncie, Ind., March 25 (AP)—At an age when most rookies merit only a passing glance as major league material, 17-year-old Harry Amato of Springfield, Ohio, is being accepted by the Pittsburgh Pirates with a large degree of pleasure.

Amato, appearing ready to become one of the youngest players in National league history, is regarded as an exceptional stylist by coaches in the Bucs' training camp and they are not changing his batting form lest they make him too nervous of some minor detail and thus interfere with his performance.

Frisch Impressed

The little 160-pound Italian is not a slugging, home run type of batter, but coaches are well satisfied with the smooth, effortless way he ties into pitches for sizzling line drives to any section of the field.

"I don't think I've seen a kid so young with such an excellent swing unless it was Mel Ott when he first reported to McGraw at the age of 16," exulted Manager Frankie Frisch. "This kid has that same level swing and snappy wrist action as Ott and reminds me a lot of him. He also has nice running form and a strong arm and undoubtedly will stay with us this season."

Amato, who still has another year of high school before he graduates, last year played for the Springfield American Legion team which won runner-up honors in the National league tournament at Miles City, Mont.

Lauded By Scouts

Pirate Scout Bill Hinchman watched him in the Ohio Legion tournament and Scout Bill Hollis Thurston was assigned to him at the National meet. Both gave him high recommendation as did seven other major league talent hunters who had looked him over.

Amato, a southpaw, was both a pitcher and an outfielder for the Legion club, but Frisch is more interested in him for garden duty, where he will be bidding against such players as John Barrett, Frank Colman and Jim Russell, all 4-F's, and Tom O'Brien who hit .310 for Pittsburgh last year. O'Brien, however, is 1-A, and the outfield is further unsettled by the absence of Vince di Maggio, a holdout. In 20 games through the state and national Legion tournaments Amato plugged away for a .485 batting average.

"My swing just came natural," he said. "But I got a lot of help from our Springfield coach, Aaron Haloran, who was once a catcher on the Notre Dame varsity. I used to be awfully hot headed but my 'mom' took all that out of me."

REDS PUSHING DEEPER TOWARD RUMANIAN LINE

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Moscow, March 25 (AP)—Pushing through the foothills of the Carpathian mountains, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian Army drove hard today for the Prut river boundary of Rumania and the important north-south railway paralleling the river five miles further west—a railway which is one of the keys to the northeastern corner of Rumania.

Advance units of Konev's mobile forces were reported stepping up the tempo of their drive in the more solid country of the rising Carpathian foothills.

(Between Tarnopol and Proskurov where the Russians announced a 62-mile breakthrough, the German communiqué said "grim defensive fighting against superior Soviet combat groups continues.")

Foes Fleeing

(The Germans asserted they had repulsed other Russians northwest of Kovel, 33 miles from the Curzon line in old Poland. The Red Army also was reported attacking southeast of Vitebsk in White Russia "with strong forces" and on two sides of the isolated Crimea.)

Boris Polevov, war correspondent in Bessarabia, wired Pravda that the Germans and Rumanians were fleeing in wild confusion, abandoning rifles and machine guns.

Red Army troops, front dispatches said, already are within sight of the Carpathians and in some sectors can glimpse from high ground the winding Prut 15 miles to the west.

With Konev's swift advance through northeast Bessarabia against Rumanian units, their German commanders appeared unable to hold them together for a determined, concerted stand, field dispatches said.

Strong Red Pressure

The Nazis apparently were feeling the strong pressure of the Russian columns which are just 26 miles from Czernowitz which is the important rail and highway city at the foot of the Carpathians, approximately 90 miles due west of Mogilev Podolski. They were reported struggling desperately to throw up defenses lines around the city as the Soviet drive developed in intensity from the north and the east. Czernowitz is regarded by Soviet military experts as the key to the Rumanian province of Bucovina.

Further north Marshal Zhukov's three-day old drive, which has liberated 400 populated points in a 62-mile advance, took his forces into the heart of the communications area controlling Lovov's connections with the lower Ukraine, the Russians said.

Montgomery Says War May Last Year

London, March 25 (AP)—The European war may last a year or longer, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery declared Friday in an address saluting the British ground forces he will lead in the forthcoming invasion and calling for full cooperation on the home front.

"We are preparing to take part in the biggest tug of war the world has ever seen and if anyone should let go of the rope, then we lose the match," said the colorful general, who won fame as the commander of the British Eighth Army.

Later in an address at the Mansion House in London opening the salute-to-the-Soldier week, Montgomery declared emphatically:

As a battler for the nation, Montgomery—who is the son of a bishop—suggested "Let God arise and let his enemies be scattered."

PLAN MILK HEARING

Harrisburg, March 25 (AP)—Chester Bowles, director of the office of Price Administration, has agreed to discuss a possible date for a hearing on Pennsylvania's efforts to increase milk prices, Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst announced.

The hearing was asked last fall by Governor Martin after the OPA withheld approval of Pennsylvania's milk commission price increases.

Two Youths Held In Fatal Shooting

Atlantic City, N. J., March 25 (AP)—Two boys 13 and 14 years old were held today. Detective Captain Emanuel Eckstein said, on charges stemming from the killing yesterday of 13-year-old Stephen Rukus, Jr., by a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver fired at Atlantic City junior high school.

Eckstein said the 14-year-old boy reached for the gun, which the younger boy had brought to school. The gun was fired and the bullet struck Rukus in the chest, Eckstein said.

The older boy was held on a technical charge of manslaughter. The other boy, he said, was charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon and possession of a revolver.

Nazi Bombs Kill Five In Hospital

The explosion occurred Wednesday when about 40 shells were pumped into the hospital area.

The dead and wounded included patients and hospital personnel, but no nurses.

The hospital area is like a big tent city, well marked with red crosses.

JURIST COLLAPSES

Philadelphia, March 25 (AP)—President Judge Paul N. Schaeffer, of Berks county collapsed yesterday and was taken to University hospital after telling a session of the Schoolmen's week of the University of Pennsylvania that "the Pennsylvania situation, as far as juvenile delinquency is concerned, is dangerous."

Butler, a member of the committee, said there is "no logic or reason" to Office of Price Administration efforts to control items "for which there is no critical need."

ALLIES ATTACK JAPS IN INDIA

By CHARLES ARUMICH
New Delhi, March 25 (AP)—Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced Friday that Allied troops had attacked a Japanese column advancing from the south on the important road junction of Imphal in India's Manipur river valley and had driven the enemy from three positions covering the Tiddim-Imphal road.

Advices Thursday said the Japanese forces were within 30 miles of Imphal, having advanced 60 miles into India after crossing the border from the Tiddim area in northern Burma in a surprise thrust.

Another Japanese column, which crossed the Indian frontier earlier after pushing over the Upper Chindwin river near Thangudim, was last reported some 30 miles east of Imphal.

The communique said this column had attempted to approach the road running from Tamu on the border to Palel, 24 miles southeast of Imphal, and that one enemy detachment had been dispersed.

Another enemy column in the Kabaw valley along India's border was ambushed southeast of Tamu and some of its tanks destroyed.

Move To Limit OPA Rationing Controls

Washington, March 25 (AP)—Senator Butler (R-Neb) said Friday that a movement is under way within the Senate Banking committee to revise the stabilization law by limiting price and rationing controls to about 45 essential goods and commodities.

Butler, a member of the committee, said there is "no logic or reason" to Office of Price Administration efforts to control items "for which there is no critical need."

Dewey Declares News Suppressed

New York, March 25 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey added to his criticism of the national administration last night with the charge that it was initiating a "de-liberate and dangerous policy" of suppressing news at home.

"Despite millions of dollars spent on war information service, we are constantly being surprised," Dewey said in opening the annual exhibition of the Press Photographers Association of New York. "Often we learn of important events through the pronouncements of foreign statesmen or by reading dispatches cabled back to this country from foreign papers."

"After making all due allowances for war-time conditions, it still remains that we know far too little about our own foreign policies and practically nothing about our diplomatic commitments."

Doctor Shortage Affects Civilians

Philadelphia, March 25 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman of the procurement and assignment service for the Army and Navy, says the balance between civilian and service medical personnel must be restored.

"The doctors left in civilian life," he told a one-day meeting of the American College of Surgeons Wednesday, "are dying off rapidly. Some 3,900 will go this year and you will be lucky to get 1,000 to replace them."

Griffith Fails To Recognize Manager

College Park, Md., March 25 (AP)—Clark Griffith, veteran owner of the Washington Nationals Baseball club, sat in the grandstands and to a friend touted third base candidate Louis Suarez who was taking his first whirl at the hot corner since his arrival from Cuba.

"Looks mighty good," said Griffith. Later, glancing again at the practicing, he remarked:

"That Suarez sure is a smooth worker. Kind of reminds me of Ossie Bluege."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, March 25 (AP)—Overseas sports news report:

ENGLAND

Sgt. Peter Kane, former world flyweight champion, has been forbidden to box while in the RAF and will have to cancel his June bout with Ronnie Clayton for the British bantamweight crown. . . . The ban was imposed after a service medical report on the condition of Kane's eyes. . . . Major Frank Buckley, who is reputed to have discovered and sold more major British soccer stars than any other man (a Cockney Connie Mack, eh?) foresees crowds of 100,000 to 150,000 for post-war soccer games and each club operating its own airliner to international matches.

PACIFIC AREA

Encs. Dick Humbert, the Philadelphia Eagles' end, writes Coach Greasy Neale that he is on a sub chaser, which is "something like a ping-pong ball bouncing down a cobblestone street." . . . Lieut. Rol and (Kickapoo), Logan, former Red Sox and West Point trainer, reports that Gene Tunney, Jim Crowley, Bobby Feller, Fred Apostoli, and footballers Marshall Duffield (Southern Cal.) and Jim Poole (Miss. State and Giants) have visited his fleet recreation center at various times. . . . Marine ring fans in the Solomon Islands think Pfc. Dale (Tiny) Fawns, 20-year-old Kentuckian, is something extra-special as a heavyweight boxing prospect. He's six feet five, weighs 245 and "moves with unbelievable speed and hits like a triphammer."

PERSIAN GULF COMMAND

Sgt. Allen la Combe of New Orleans also reports a fine heavyweight prospect, 20-year-old Harold Augusta of St. Louis. Augusta, PGC, middle-east and Anglo-American 165-pound champ who now scales 192 and is still growing. He's clever and a hard hitter. . . . La Combe has 42 boxers training daily, about 20 doing part-time work, not counting 40 to 50 Persian kids "who are always crying to box." . . . "I do not know how we are going to train when this heat of about 150 to 160 hits us soon," Allen adds, "but we will find a way." . . . A "Yank" report on the Anglo-American bouts at Cairo in February, before 12,000 fans, says there were as many fights outside the ring as in it. . . . Incidentally, one of the referees there was Capt. Joseph Kiddie. . . . Wonder if he dived?

ICELAND

GI boxing, with British service men frequently taking part, has shared interest with basketball in Andrews field house during the far northern winter nights. . . . Both the championship cage team, coached by Lieut. Jerome B. Robinson, and the leading boxers were rewarded with trips to Britain. . . . And Lieut. Dave Zinkoff, the old Philadelphia sports announcer, says that the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. William S. Key, "holds his ringside seat come hell or high water or aurora borealis."

OVER EUROPE

The sporting news carries this yarn about Lieut. Alfred Pezzella, a bombardier and obviously a baseball fan. . . . While his B-24 was flying over enemy territory, a piece of flak whizzed through the nose of the plane missing Pezzella by a few inches. . . . The lieutenant looked up momentarily from his bombight and remarked: "ball one, low and inside."

BYRON NELSON TRAILS

Durham, N. C., March 25 (AP)—Byron Nelson trailed the leaders by a stroke today as the $5,000 Durham open tournament moved into the second round but he had to his credit a remarkable six holes of golf. Picked to win before play began, the Toledo stylist needed a 68 yesterday, three under par, and found himself in third place back of the two New York veterans, Jimmy Hines of Amsterdam and 1941 National open champion Craig Wood of Mamaroneck.

TITLE GAME TONIGHT

Denver, March 25 (AP)—The old scientists of independent amateur basketball, defending champion Phillips "66" and Denver Ambrose Legion, match their skill and years of experience tonight for the national AAU title. A Denver entry and the Phillips representative have played five times for the crown.

The English call a thumb-tack a drawing pin.

ZURITA VS. JACK

New York, March 25 (AP)—Juan Zurita, New NBA lightweight champion, arrived late last night from Mexico City. He planned to start work today for his 10-round non title scrap with Beau Jack at Madison Square Garden on Friday. The Beau currently is a 2 to 1 favorite.

YALE SWIMMER AIMS AT FIRST TRIPLE TITLE

By LOU BLACK

New Haven, Conn., March 25 (AP)—Barring a near miracle, Alan Ford, Yale's great swimmer, loomed today as the National Collegiate A. A.'s first triple titlist in nearly a decade. All that the Eli's Balboa bullet has to do is to win the 100-yard free style sprint, and hardly anybody expects him to flunk.

The last time anybody won three crowns in the NCAA championships was in 1936 when Jack Medica of the University of Washington and now University of Pennsylvania coach, did it. And prior to that, the only other swimmer to accomplish the trick was Art Schwartz of Northwestern in 1930.

Beats Own Record

The century is the 20-year-old, broad-shouldered Ford's specialty and only a week ago, he lowered his world's record for the distance to 0:49.7. The big question was not whether the rusty-haired Ford, whom Coach Bob Kipthut, an expert, claims is the speediest sprint swimmer in history, would win, but how much he has been affected by a recent cold.

Ford, after winning the 50-yard freestyle and 150-yard backstroke with ease last night—the inaugural of the two-day championships in Yale's pool—said he felt fine. His winning of the two events, staged hardly ten minutes apart, featured the first day's activities.

Other highlights included the winning of the 1500-meter by Keo Nakama, Ohio State's captain from Hawaii, the first champ to successfully defend his title; the triumph of big Gene Rogers of Columbia in the 220-yard freestyle in which he beat Nakama by less than a foot; the annexing of the one-meter dive crown by Charles Batterman of Columbia, formerly of Ohio State, and the winning of the 300-yard medley relay by the U. S. Naval Academy.

Na y Threat

Although Yale and Michigan were favored to battle it out to the last race in today's five event show—400-yard and 440-yard free style; 200-yard breaststroke; 400-yard relay and three-meter dive—for the team title, the midshipmen from Annapolis offer a serious threat.

Yale leads with 24 points, four more than Michigan, and Navy trails with 18. Other team scores: Ohio State, 14; Columbia, 12; Williams, Penn State, U. S. Military Academy, and Cornell, 4 each; Rochester, 3.

DODDS FAILS TO BETTER RICE'S 2-MILE RECORD

By LARRY SMITH

Cleveland, March 25 (AP)—Gil Dodds still prefers his courtship with the two-mile run even though he failed by a wide margin in his assault on Greg Rice's indoor record at the Knights of Columbus games last night.

"I still feel it's my natural distance," the Boston Divinity student remarked wearily after he finished 14.3 seconds beyond the 8:51 mark which the former Notre Dame star set in the same meet last year.

"I had very little time to train for the extra distance and I just got tired, that's all," he explained.

Beat Mile Mark

Gil twice lowered the world's indoor mile record the past two week-ends but it was his first effort in two years over the longer route.

Although he obviously was disappointed with his showing, the plank pounding parson finished a lap and a half ahead of Jim Rafferty of the New York A. C. and lapped the field with eight circuits to go. Jimmy Wisner of Baltimore finished third while Bill Jamison, another Baltimore entrant, dropped out at the halfway point.

The performance was Dodds' farewell appearance of the winter season. He will occupy his father's pulpit at Smithville, Ohio, this Sunday.

Smash 45-Yard Mark

Ed Conwell, national indoor dash champion from New York university, and Claude (Buddy) Young, University of Illinois freshman, each fractured the record for the seldom-run 45-yard dash. Young clipped one-tenth of a second off the mark of 4.8 seconds in a semi-final heat but finished second as Conwell repeated the feat in the finals. Herb Thompson of Jersey City, now in the Coast Guard, set the old figure here last year.

With Dodds out of the mile, Bill Hulse of the New York A. C., triumphed easily in that event, finishing 30 yards ahead of Rudy Sims of New York university. His time was 4:14.3, compared with the 4:06.4 figure Dodds turned in at the Chicago relays last week.

ZURITA VS. JACK

New York, March 25 (AP)—Juan Zurita, New NBA lightweight champion, arrived late last night from Mexico City. He planned to start work today for his 10-round non title scrap with Beau Jack at Madison Square Garden on Friday. The Beau currently is a 2 to 1 favorite.

HERSHEY EVENS HOCKEY SERIES

(By The Associated Press)

Tied at one game apiece in their semi-final best four-of-seven games series the Cleveland Barons and the Hershey Bears resume play tonight in the American Hockey league playoffs.

Shutout, 2 to 0, in the opening game at Cleveland on Tuesday, the Bears bounced back on their home ice Thursday, 3 to 1. Since tonight's game again is at Hershey, the Bears are favored to take a 2-1 edge in the series before the teams hop back to Cleveland for a Sunday night encounter.

Meantime the Indianapolis Caps got back into the running of their semi-final tussle with Buffalo by whipping the Bisons, 4 to 3, before 3,299 at Indianapolis last night. Buffalo holds a 2 to 1 lead with the fourth game carded at the Indiana city tomorrow night.

Johnny Sorrell, Indianapolis coach, personally won the game for his caps by zipping home four goals within six minutes and nine seconds in the third period. His feat wiped out a 2-0 Buffalo lead and inspired his teammates to thwart Buffalo's determined thrusts in the closing minutes.

PIRATES ARE PLEASED WITH YOUNG ROOKIE

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Muncie, Ind., March 25 (AP)—At an age when most rookies merit only a passing glance as major league material, 17-year-old Harry Amato of Springfield, Ohio, is being accepted by the Pittsburgh Pirates with a large degree of pleasure.

Amato, appearing ready to become one of the youngest players in National league history, is regarded as an exceptional stylist by coaches in the Bucs' training camp and they are not changing his batting form lest they make him too nervous of some minor detail and thus interfere with his perfection.

Frisch Impressed

The little 160-pound Italian is not a slugging, home run type of batter, but coaches are well satisfied with the smooth, effortless way he ties into pitches for sizzling line drives to any section of the field.

"I don't think I've seen a kid so young with such an excellent swing unless it was Mel Ott when he first reported to McGraw at the age of 16," exulted Manager Frankie Frisch. "This kid has that same level swing and snappy wrist action as Ott and reminds me a lot of him. He also has nice running form and a strong arm and undoubtedly will stay with us this season."

Amato, who still has another year of high school before he graduates, last year played for the Springfield American Legion team which won runner-up honors in the National league tournament at Miles City, Mont.

Lauded By Scouts

Pirate Scout Bill Hinchman watched him in the Ohio Legion tournament and Scout Bill Hollis Thurston was assigned to him at the National meet. Both gave him high recommendation as did seven other major league talent hunters who had looked him over.

Amato, a southpaw, was both a pitcher and an outfielder for the Legion club, but Frisch is more interested in him for garden duty, where he will be bidding against such players as John Barrett, Frank Colman and Jim Russell, all 4-F's, and Tom O'Brien who hit 310 for Pittsburgh last year. O'Brien, however, is 1-A, and the outfield is further unsettled by the absence of Vince di Maggio, a holdout. In 20 games through the state and national Legion tournaments Amato plugged away for a .485 batting average.

"My swing just came natural," he said. "But I got a lot of help from our Springfield coach, Aaron Halloran, who was once a catcher on the Notre Dame varsity. I used to be awfully hot headed but my 'mom' took all that out of me."

REDS PUSHING DEEPER TOWARD RUMANIAN LINE

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, March 25 (AP)—Pushing through the foothills of the Carpathian mountains, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Second Ukrainian Army drove hard today for the Prut river boundary of Rumania and the important north-south railway paralleling the river five miles further west—a railway which is one of the keys to the northeastern corner of Rumania.

Advance units of Konev's mobile forces were reported stepping up the tempo of their drive in the more solid country of the rising Carpathian foothills.

(Between Tarnopol and Proskurov where the Russians announced a 62-mile breakthrough, the German communiqué said "grim defensive fighting against superior Soviet combat groups continues.")

Foes Fleeing

(The Germans asserted they had repulsed other Russians northwest of Kovel, 33 miles from the Curzon line in old Poland. The Red Army also was reported attacking southeast of Vitebsk in White Russia "with strong forces" and on two sides of the isolated Crimea.)

Boris Polevoy, war correspondent in Bessarabia, wired Pravda that the Germans and Rumanians were fleeing in wild confusion, abandoning rifles and machine guns.

Red Army troops, front dispatches said, already are within sight of the Carpathians and in some sectors can glimpse from high ground the winding Prut 15 miles to the west.

With Konev's swift advance through northeast Bessarabia against Rumanian units, their German commanders appeared unable to hold them together for a determined, concerted stand, field dispatches said.

Strong Red Pressure

The Nazis apparently were feeling the strong pressure of the Russian columns which are just 26 miles from Cernowitz which is the important rail and highway city at the foot of the Carpathians, approximately 90 miles due west of Mogilev Podolski. They were reported struggling desperately to throw up defenses lines around the city as the Soviet drive developed in intensity from the north and the east. Cernowitz is regarded by Soviet military experts as the key to the Rumanian province of Bocoovina.

Further north Marshal Zhukov's three-day old drive, which has liberated 400 populated points in a 62-mile advance, took his forces into the heart of the communications area controlling Lowow's connections with the lower Ukraine, the Russians said.

Montgomery Says War May Last Year

London, March 25 (AP)—The European war may last a year or longer, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery declared Friday in an address saluting the British ground forces he will lead in the forthcoming invasion and calling for full co-operation on the home front.

"We are preparing to take part in the biggest tug of war the world has ever seen, and if anyone should let go of the rope, then we lose the match," said the colorful general, who won fame as the commander of the British Eighth Army.

Later in an address at the Mansion House in London opening the salute-to-the-Soldier week, Montgomery declared emphatically:

As a battler for the nation, Montgomery—who is the son of a bishop—suggested "Let God arise and let his enemies be scattered."

PLAN MILK HEARING

Harrisburg, March 25 (AP)—Chester Bowles, director of the office of Price Administration, has agreed to discuss a possible date for a hearing on Pennsylvania's efforts to increase milk prices. Agriculture Secretary Miles Horst announced. The hearing was asked last fall by Governor Martin after the OPA withheld approval of Pennsylvania milk commission price increases.

Two Youths Held In Fatal Shooting

Atlantic City, N. J., March 25 (AP)—Two boys 13 and 14 years old were held today. Detective Captain Emanuel Eckstein said, on charges stemming from the killing yesterday of 13-year-old Stephen Rukus, Jr., by a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver fired at Atlantic City junior high school.

Eckstein said the 14-year-old boy reached for the gun, which the younger boy had brought to school. The gun was fired and the bullet struck Rukus in the chest, Eckstein said.

The older boy was held on a technical charge of manslaughter. The other boy, he said, was charged with carrying a concealed deadly weapon and possession of a revolver.

Nazi Bombs Kill Five In Hospital

Allied Headquarters, Naples, March 25 (AP)—Explosion of a German shell in the hospital area of the Anzio beachhead killed five soldiers and left a dozen in hospitals Thursday for treatment of wounds.

The explosion occurred Wednesday when about 40 shells were pumped into the hospital area. The dead and wounded included patients and hospital personnel, but no nurses.

The hospital area is like a big tent city, well marked with red crosses.

JURIST COLLAPSES

Philadelphia, March 25 (AP)—President Judge Paul N. Schaeffer of Berks county collapsed yesterday and was taken to University hospital after telling a session of the Schoolmen's week of the University of Pennsylvania that "the Pennsylvania situation, as far as juvenile delinquency is concerned, is dangerous."

Butler, a member of the committee, said there is "no logic or reason" to Office of Price Administration efforts to control items "for which there is no critical need."

ALLIES ATTACK JAPS IN INDIA

By CHARLES ARUMICH

New Delhi, March 25 (AP)—Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced Friday that Allied troops had attacked a Japanese column advancing from the south on the important road junction of Imphal in India's Manipur river valley and had driven the enemy from three positions covering the Tiddim-Imphal road.

Advices Thursday said the Japanese forces were within 30 miles of Imphal, having advanced 60 miles into India after crossing the border from the Tiddim area in northern Burma in a surprise thrust.

Another Japanese column, which crossed the Indian frontier earlier after pushing over the Upper Chindwin river near Thangudut, was last reported some 30 miles east of Imphal.

The communiqué said this column had attempted to approach the road running from Tamu on the border to Palel, 24 miles southeast of Imphal, and that one enemy detachment had been dispersed.

Another enemy column in the Kabaw valley along India's border was ambushed southeast of Tamu and some of its tanks destroyed.

Move To Limit OPA Rationing Controls

Washington, March 25 (AP)—Senator Butler (R-Neb) said Friday that a movement is under way within the Senate Banking committee to revise the stabilization law by limiting price and rationing controls to about 45 essential goods and commodities.

Butler, a member of the committee, said there is "no logic or reason" to Office of Price Administration efforts to control items "for which there is no critical need."

Dewey Declares News Suppressed

New York, March 25 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey added to his criticism of the national administration last night with the charge that it was initiating a "deliberate and dangerous policy" of suppressing news at home.

"Despite millions of dollars spent on war information service, we are constantly being surprised," Dewey said in opening the annual exhibition of the Press Photographers Association of New York. "Often we learn of important events through the pronouncements of foreign statesmen or by reading dispatches cabled back to this country from foreign papers."

"After making all due allowances for war-time conditions, it still remains that we know far too little about our own foreign policies and practically nothing about our diplomatic commitments."

Doctor Shortage Affects Civilians

Philadelphia, March 25 (AP)—Dr. Frank H. Lahey, chairman of the procurement and assignment service for the Army and Navy, says the balance between civilian and service medical personnel must be restored.

"The doctors left in civilian life," he told a one-day meeting of the American College of Surgeons Wednesday, "are dying off rapidly. Some 3,900 will go this year and you will be lucky to get 1,000 to replace them."

An Evening Thought

Whenever education and refinement grow away from the common people, they are growing toward selfishness, which is the monster evil of the world.—H. W. Beecher.

Just Folks

THE SEED CATALOG

It seemed good for awhile war's demands to forget

And read of the charm of a new mignonette:

From Hitler and Tojo to turn with disdain

And sit reading of lilacs and roses again.

I had vowed there was nothing could cause me to slack

Or give over my task till the boys were all back,

But there is the mail was that booklet of charm,

Which I sat down to read—but intending no harm.

Some gentle old chap every garden-er known

Had succeeded in growing a new yellow rose.

And another good graybeard like Burbank, I think,

Was announcing with pride a new, sturdier pink.

Oh, soldiers and sailors and pilots, I pray

That with victory soon you may come from the fray,

And when threatened no more by tyrannical powers,

We may all have more time to devote to our flowers.

Today's Talk

DEMANDS

One of the reasons why we so often lose faith in ourselves, falling even far below our good part, is that we do not make high enough demands upon ourselves. We play around with our lower demands. We look up our best talents, making them useless, and put to use only those common talents that are almost universal.

The people that we admire and look up to most, however, are those who have made great demands upon themselves—almost whipped themselves into great action—often to their physical hurt and harm. But they are the leaders. Often they die all too young—but not until having lived a full and extended life of genuine service.

In reading the lives of many of our greatest poets and writers, industrialists and others, it is difficult to believe that they did so much in so short a time. They will demand upon themselves until those demands drove them to their goals—and high ones, at that!

We often resent the demands that outside sources make upon us, but of vastly greater importance is it that we do not demand too little of ourselves. It is highly important that we keep on good terms with our inner urges, but rather to listen to them and answer their call.

Unemployment of mind is far more tragic than unemployment of the body, the hands, or the eyes. When the mind takes a long sleep, all else concerned with this bodily life becomes still and static, and might just as well have been not at all.

We have wars because the demands for peace and good will among men have never been cried loud enough in the world. But when war does come the demands shout to high heaven! And to bring peace back again we pay with our lives and our precious substance. Could anything be less intelligent?

Why should any of us pursue a way of life that somehow makes no serious demands upon us? Do we fear our fate too much not to dare to put to the test every possible demand—to gain or lose all?

In "ping" time a motorist's thoughts lightly turn to need for a carbon and valve job.

If there's a flat spot on the generator's commutator you may feel inclined to take it as mere evidence of expense ahead but actually it will help to cut down the repair bill by serving as a clue to the whereabouts of the open circuit in the generator armature. The flat spot comes from the brush throwing an intense blue spark whenever it comes in contact with the commutator bar connected with the coil that is open-circuited. The burned bar and flat spot indicate where to look for the trouble.

Still Should Be Drained
This year some engineers are advocating leaving permanent type anti-freeze in the cooling system all summer, provided the car is limited to very low mileage. Their argument is that if the solution already is weak and no further permanent type anti-freeze is available next fall too much would be lost in draining the cooling system. They believe that due to the low annual mileage of the average car during wartime the risk of cylinder head gasket leakage is greatly reduced.

This idea will get a lot of play this spring so I want to go on record as being opposed to it. The longer anti-freeze is used the more it is contaminated by slow leakage of gas vapors past the head gasket into the cooling system. And I can't see any reason why an owner can't drain off the anti-freeze without spilling it. He can attach a short length of hose to the drain cock, putting the other end in a pan beneath the car. Never try to drain directly into glass or earthenware jugs.

Speaking of flushing reminds me to caution against using the old method of opening the drain cock and running water from a hose into the top of the radiator. In the old days this was fairly successful because the water ran down through the block as well as through the radiator core. With modern cars the cold water will quickly force the motor thermostat shut, hence all the flushing will be confined to the radiator. Of course the motor thermostat can be removed but if you are going this far with the job you may as well treat the cooling system to a genuine reverse flushing.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"Lack of cleanliness is something which continues to be a prime cause of motor car troubles. You might call it bad housekeeping. Sounds sort of funny, I know, but just the same it is the basis of much that seems like mechanical failure. One of the best examples is battery post corrosion. This is plain messiness, evidence that metal parts are being attacked by acid from the electrolyte.

"Then there is the familiar starter-drive which, unless clean, is certain to fail. When a starter gear fails to move over into position with the flywheel ring gear the chances are that its shaft is dirty and merely needs a little cleaning. Or perhaps the starter-motor commutator itself is greasy or grimy. Dirt plays havoc with wheel bearings, and we even get into trouble if the oil filter or the air filter isn't kept clean. Clean cleaners save gas and motor wear."

It may seem odd to talk about the windshield when discussing the matter of getting maximum service from the car's headlights, but the truth is that a dirty windshield not only cuts down your own views of the road ahead but invites a higher percentage of glare from the lights of approaching cars. Dirt and dust particles refract light rays so that glare is greatly intensified. Dirt on the headlights also causes them to glare more into the eyes of approaching drivers. And when you come to dust the windshield don't forget to clean the inside as well as the outside.

Better Remember These
If a fuse blows out the second time always check for wiring breaks, loose connections or shorts. That second "blow" is evidence that all is not well.

If it is hard to get into gear, and the clutch pedal touches the toe-board, a pedal adjustment is needed. In the case of a car that has seen considerable service you may also need to make some compensation for the combination of wear at various points in the clutch linkage.

A fruitful source of squeaking is at the bottom of coil springs of cars with knee-action wheels. Sometimes it is merely necessary to put a little oil into the holders or bases of the coils, but if this does not stop the noise then have the car raised up on a filling station hoist. Next place a heavy wood beam in such a way that it is wedged between the center of the knee-action unit and the ground. When the hoist is lowered a little the center of the knee-action unit will rise and take weight off the coils. Then it is easy to get oil to the rusted and dirt covered bases.

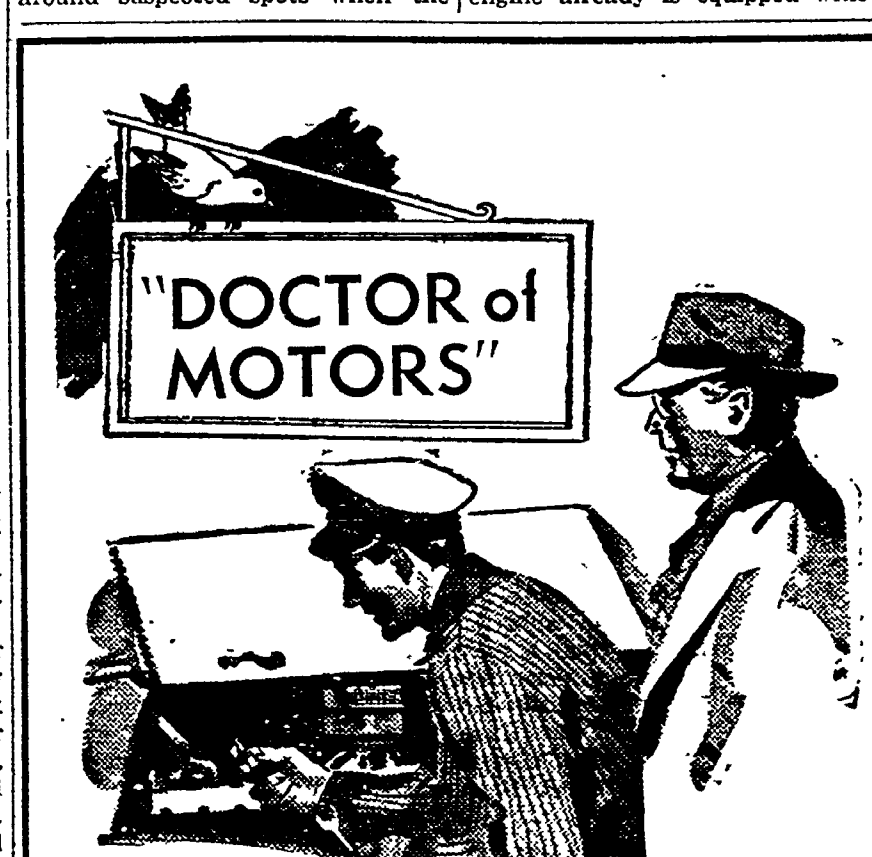

One For The Book
A neat way to remove a motor head stud, if it sticks, is to screw on two nuts and make them lock against each other. Then apply your open end wrench to the lower nut, and give it a turn. You get a real grip this way and it does the trick. In spite of all we have learned about automobiles during the war it still is true that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Try to get over the hurdles and safely out of the state of just having what is known as a "smattering." One reader is now thoroughly convinced that it pays. He had been trying to adjust the engine's idling mixture and mistook the idle cam for the adjusting screws. About all he did was to change the idling speed, and in the bargain got the fast idle adjustment out of whack.

Safer Plan For Test
When an experienced service man suspects that there are intake manifold leaks and can't quite locate them he may squirt a little gasoline around suspected spots when the engine is running out in the open. If idling is immediately better the indications are that the externally applied fuel is being sucked into the intake to enrich the mixture. This plan, however, has certain elements of danger especially in the hands of the uninitiated. A better stunt for the novice is to squirt a little kerosene or motor tune-up oil around the suspected points of leakage. The engine won't run better as a result of this but when the kerosene or oil sucks into the engine it will burn and give off a tell-tale whiff of smoke from the exhaust.

THE SEED CATALOG

It seemed good for awhile war's demands to forget
And read of the charm of a new mignonette;
From Hitler and Tojo to turn with disdain
And sit reading of lilacs and roses again.I had vowed there was nothing could cause me to slack
Or give over my task till the boys were all back,
But there is the mail was that booklet of charm,
Which I sat down to read—but intending no harm.Some gentle old chap every garden-er known
Had succeeded in growing a new yellow rose.
And another good graybeard like Burbank, I think,
Was announcing with pride a new, sturdier pink.Oh, soldiers and sailors and pilots, I pray
That with victory soon you may come from the fray,
And when threatened no more by tyrannical powers,
We may all have more time to devote to our flowers.

One of the reasons why we so often lose faith in ourselves, falling even far below our good par, is that we do not make high enough demands upon ourselves. We play around with our lower demands. We look up our best talents, making them useless, and put to use only those common talents that are almost universal.

The people that we admire and look up to most, however, are those who have made great demands upon themselves—almost whipped themselves into great action—often to their physical hurt and harm. But they are the leaders. Often they die all too young—but not until having lived a full and extended life of genuine service.

In reading the lives of many of our greatest poets and writers, industrialists and others, it is difficult to believe that they did so much in so short a time. They will demand upon themselves until those demands drove them to their goals—and high ones, at that!

We often resent the demands that outside sources make upon us, but of vastly greater importance is it that we do not demand too little of ourselves. It is highly important that we keep on good terms with ourselves, so that we may not resent our inner urges, but rather to listen to them and answer their call.

Unemployment of mind is far more tragic than unemployment of the body, the hands, or the eyes. When the mind takes a long sleep, all else concerned with this bodily life becomes still and static, and might just as well have been not at all.

We have wars because the demands for peace and good will among men have never been cried loud enough in the world. But when war does come the demands shout to high heaven! And to bring peace back again we pay with our lives and our precious substance. Could anything be less intelligent?

As the British armada streamed eastward, about 100 German bombers broke through London's aerial barrage to blast at the British capital's business properties, dwellings and churches with tons of incendiaries in the longest raid in 12 months. Eleven were shot down.

Boche Story "It is clear the British have suffered one of their heaviest defeats in the battle of Berlin," said a German broadcast describing the savage attacks of the reawakened German air force.

"The stream of enemy bombers reached the German capital from a northwesterly direction," it continued. "For almost one hour they were the target of German night fighters which had taken off in large numbers. The bomber formations approached under a cloud cover favorable for attack, yet the German fighters dived down on them. The air encounter started over Helgoland and stretched to Berlin."

"The bomber formations were fought continuously during their flight over Reich territory."

CHIEF METALLURGIST

Pittsburgh, March 25 (AP)—The Aluminum Company of America Thursday announced C. F. Nagel, Jr., had been named chief metallurgist of the company, heading a newly created metallurgical division.

Riding With Russel

a quieter running engine. So far I have had no luck. G. B. Mc.

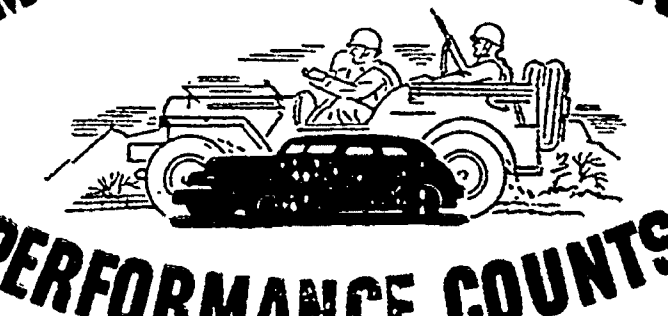

A. You are probably just running a few miles at a stretch, with a lot of cold starting. One reader reported similar failure, but after taking the car on a ten mile run he began to notice marked improvement.

Q. Several times I have been delayed in starting because the choke valve stuck. I notice that the air cleaner on this engine tends to shake badly unless I screw on the wing nut extra tight. Could the looseness have anything to do with the choke condition? B. W.

A. What happens is that you cramp the soft air horn of the carburetor and thus force the choke valve to stick. Let the filter be a little on the loose side.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of The Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

RADIO PROGRAMS
 New York, March 25 (AP)—Fibber McGee is off the air and may be compelled to stay away as long as six weeks while he recovers from an attack of lobar pneumonia. It is the first break in his long radio career.
 His illness has necessitated hurried changes in plans for his Tuesday night program on NBC. Molly and the rest of the cast will carry on, with Hal Peary, who began in this show as the Great Gildersleeve before he got his own program, to return to sub for Fibber.
 In private life the Fibbers are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jordan.
 While Fibber had never been out of the show before, Molly missed the program for an entire year because of illness about five years ago.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 25 (AP)—Fibber McGee is off the air and may be compelled to stay away as long as six weeks while he recovers from an attack of lobar pneumonia. It is the first break in his long radio career.

His illness has necessitated hurried changes in plans for his Tuesday night program on NBC. Molly and the rest of the cast will carry on, with Hal Peary, who began in this show as the Great Gildersleeve before he got his own program, to return to sub for Fibber.

In private life the Fibbers are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jordan.

While Fibber had never been out of the show before, Molly missed the program for an entire year because of illness about five years ago.

MONDAY & TUESDAY
"All Baba and the Forty Thieves."

Universal's technicolor production featuring Maria Montez and Jon Hall will be the attraction at the Majestic theatre Monday and Tuesday.

The picture abounds with colorful settings and thrilling incidents. Included in the cast are Turhan Bey, Andy Devine, Crispin Martin and Moroni Olsen.

WEDNESDAY
A startling drama, literally breathtaking in its revelations concerning conditions in present-day Germany, is promised in "Women in Bondage," the Monogram film which plays at the Majestic theatre on Wednesday.

Gail Patrick and Nancy Kelly are seen in the co-starring roles, heading an exceptional cast which includes Bill Henry, Tala Birell, Gertrude Michael, Alan Baxter, Rita Quigley, Maris Wrixon, Felix Basch, Anne Nagel, Mary Forbes, H. B. Warner and many other popular screen players.

The action of the story details the fiendish cruelties and the lowered standards of morality which have been forced on the women of the Reich under the Hitler regime, resulting in a complete breakup of family life as it affects the rising generations.

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Humphrey Bogart, who heads an all-star cast in "Passage to Marseilles."

Humphrey Bogart returns to town this week in "Passage to Marseilles," the new Warner Bros. picture opening Thursday at the Majestic. Playing an out-spoken, two-fisted French journalist who has a run-in with pro-Hitler authorities, Bogart is banished to Devil's Island only to make his escape and return to fight for France in an exciting film which is part adventure but part as timely as today's headlines.

Michele Morgan plays the romantic lead opposite Bogart and an excellent supporting cast features Claude Rains, Philip Dorn, Sydney Greenstreet, Helmut Dantine, Peter Lorre and George Tobias. The film was directed by Michael Curtiz who also directed "Casablanca" and was produced by Hal B. Wallis.

New Oxford

New Oxford—The regular meeting of the National Council of Catholic Women, St. Mary's church, was conducted in the parochial hall Wednesday evening.

Children of St. Mary's Parochial school were given a full holiday Monday in observance of the Feast of St. Joseph.

The sale of livestock and farm implements by Ralph H. Kopman at his farm, during the past week, was well attended. Mr. Kopman plans to abandon farming and move nearer town.

The War Emergency Relief offering, originally scheduled to be received Palm Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church, will be received at both masses Passion Sunday, March 26.

Frank Flesman has returned home after a visit among relatives in the Philadelphia section.

Mrs. Goldie M. Bower, local postmistress, has been undergoing treatment at the Hanover hospital.

These officers have been elected during the week by members of the local Guitat club: President, Mildred Elitz; vice president, Arlene Chron-VITUM Capsules.

ESCAPE from PARIS
By Marion McClure Stewart

Chapter 6

Herr Schaefer entered the Cafe Dragon Rouge at the luncheon hour with his usual arrogant stride and selected a table for himself. At a signal from her uncle, Adrienne advanced to take the agent's order. His former mood of suspicious vigilance appeared during the past few days to have been displaced by one more amicable and conciliatory.

Adrienne had noticed in him of late a tendency to court her interest and attention. Hoping this would divert his mind from his suspicions she had encouraged him to some extent. The bait she had held out to the Nazi in the form of smiles had not been without effect.

He smiled as Adrienne placed his order before him and inquired if everything was to his liking.

"Your hours are too long Fraulein, and that work too hard for hands like yours," he remarked, observing her closely. "Do you never take time off to play, may I ask?"

"The times are too serious for play as Monsieur knows," she retorted, meeting his searching eyes for an instant.

"What do you say Fraulein to dining with me tonight at the Cafe Espagnole in the Rue Royale? The food is excellent there and the floor show good."

Adrienne had held herself in readiness in the event that such an invitation might be extended to her, and despite some inward qualms accepted it graciously.

Some hours later in the living room of the flat above the restaurant, she told her uncle.

"I thought it wise to accept. In this way it may be possible to set aside his suspicions of us, and perhaps when he has had enough champagne to drink, I can obtain some valuable information from him."

Pierre Dussault shook his head and his tone was anxious.

"You must take care my little one. You play with fire when you have anything to do with these Nazis. Yes, you were wise not to antagonize him, but promise me you will be careful and guard yourself, Adrienne."

With his usual quick perception he observed that the girl's eyes were shadowed and anxious. She gave the promise readily and laid her hand caressingly for a minute on his.

"Now I shall rest for a short time. I must look my best tonight. I am to meet the agent at the Cafe Espagnole at seven o'clock, and will stay for the night with Madame Dupont. He offered to send his car for me, but I said I preferred that he should not."

Adrienne entered the Cafe Espagnole, wearing a black velvet evening wrap over her dinner gown of black lace, with her auburn hair arranged in soft curls forming a coronet over her forehead.

She did not seem to Herr Schaefer the same girl who had served him in the cafe that afternoon. Despite the fact that in her waitress costume, the beauty of her oval face and chiseled features had been apparent to him, he discovered that she had become invested with a new dignity, which made her even more desirable.

Instantly he was sure he had guessed right from the first, that Adrienne belonged to a sphere quite remote from the one she occupied at present. He rose from his table in an alcove of the well filled cafe, decorated in a color scheme of maroon and old gold, and with a formal bow indicated the seat opposite him.

Adrienne observed he was in evening dress in honor of the occasion, and that an orchid corsage lay on the table beside her. She accepted the floral tribute graciously.

"Thank you, Herr Schaefer. How lovely they are."

He bowed again. "You will honor me by wearing them, I trust, Fraulein."

Instantly she lifted the orchids with a smile and pinned them to the shoulder of her gown, then gave her attention to the menu card offered her by the waiter.

When her selection of hors d'oeuvres, broiled duckling a la Espagnole, salad, and ice, with cafe-au-lait to follow, had been made, Herr Schaefer gave his own order, inquiring if Mademoiselle would have cocktails.

She declined laughingly.

"No thank you, I will have something later. It is not well to mix one's drinks."

"Ach! I see your head rules you, Fraulein!" He looked at her acutely. "That is wise always."

"I am afraid my head does not always rule, Monsieur." There was archness in the glance she threw at him.

"Then I shall hope to discover you during one of those lapses, Fraulein. It would be interesting."

"I was under the impression, Herr Schaefer, that there are few things you do not discover."

"You are very perceptive I see, Fraulein," he countered, observing her intently. "Yet to understand a woman fully is a life study in itself."

"The trouble is that we women often fail to understand ourselves."

Adrienne met the gaze of his light blue eyes fully for a minute, and a quiver of fear seized her with a sudden realization of imminent danger. The next moment in was gone. The conversation was brought to

WEWAK HIT BY RAIN OF BOMBS

Allied Headquarters, Southwest Pacific, March 25 (AP)—More than 2,000 tons of bombs concentrated so far this month on the Wewak sector of New Guinea have wiped out Japanese air resistance; sunk thousands of tons of supply ships, and blown up fuel and ammunition dumps, gun positions and supply stores.

The great weight of bombs, focusing attention on an enemy base more than 200 miles northwest of the closest Allied ground positions below Madang, passed the 2,000-ton mark for March on the strength of a 200-ton blow dealt Wednesday and reported Friday by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

It was the eighteenth air punch dealt the Wewak sector over a period of 22 days covered by the reports. Wednesday's attack was the twelfth day of unbroken strikes by Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's bombers.

The consecutive series opened March 11. After the first five, during which more than 80 enemy planes were shot out of action, Wewak's four airbases ceased to offer interception.

Allied conquest of the Admiralty islands, 225 miles east of Wewak, has severed Japan's supply route from Truk to New Guinea and left Wewak as the base upon which the Japanese at Bogia, Alexishafen and Madang must rely completely for whatever supplies can be slipped in by sea from the general direction of the Philippines.
